THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF NURTURE IN EDUCATION

Author Guidelines

Manuscripts should be no longer than 6,000 words, excluding an abstract of less than 200 words and references.

Submitted papers will be subject to double-blind peer review.

Manuscripts should generally take the form of:

- A research paper, where an empirical study has been designed and data collected to answer a specific research question. This type of manuscript should include the following sections: introduction, methods, results, discussion, recommendations (if appropriate) and conclusion. Please note that all authors working with research participants should follow the BERA code of ethics or similar (please see here for more information).
- A literature review, describing the literature on nurture and related topics, with the aim of assessing the studies available and summarising the current state of research.
- A theoretical perspective or thought piece, highlighting how a new theoretical approach or model could advance nurture practice or nurture research.

All submissions should contain the following elements:

Front page, including:
- A short, informative title reflecting the scope of the research.
- A list of author names, alongside their affiliations' name and address.

- The email address of the author, to whom any correspondence should be addressed during the review process and following publication.
- A word count.

Anyone who has made a substantive contribution to the article should be listed as an author. Principal authorship, authorship order, and other publication credits should be based on the relative scientific or professional contributions of the individuals involved, regardless of their status. A student is usually listed as principal author on any multiple-authored publication which is substantially based on that student's dissertation or thesis.

Two copies of the submitted article should be sent as Word documents:
Copy 1 should contain all author information.
Copy 2 should be an anonymised version of the manuscript for peer review.

Abstract
The abstract should summarise the research in 200 words or less. It should describe the aim of the study, the methodology used and key findings and conclusions. Please avoid using references and unfamiliar abbreviations.

Keywords
Four keywords should be provided, which should reflect the paper's content and your specific field of research. Please avoid using unfamiliar abbreviations and over-general terms. These keywords will help readers find your work using search engines and research databases.

Figures
Please provide a caption for any figures (e.g. 'Figure 1. Title of your figure') in the main body of the text, instead of on the figure itself. Titles included on a figure will be removed. Please ensure that all the necessary information is described in legends, and that the figure's resolution is high enough for printing. All figures included in the manuscript should be mentioned in the text.

Tables

Please submit tables as editable text and not as images. Number tables consecutively, in accordance with their position in the text, and make sure to mention in the text any table you have included in the manuscript. Please ensure that data included in a table is not described elsewhere in the article (either in a figure or in the main text).

References

Authors should follow the referencing style provided by the American Psychological Association (APA style). You can find a free guide to APA style here. Please ensure that every reference cited in the text is also present in the reference list and vice versa. References included in the reference list but not mentioned in the text will be removed.

Additional information

Plagiarism

Authors should avoid plagiarism, the taking of words from another source without attribution. Authors should ensure that quotations are attributed, that quotations appear within quotation marks, and that any form of words or ideas taken from another author is correctly attributed. Authors should also avoid self-plagiarism, the use of your own work, which is reproduced elsewhere. Please note that papers may be subject to a plagiarism checker.

Copyright

methods, without the prior permission of the publisher. For permission requests, please contact info@nurtureuk.org.

Authors are free to self-archive papers at the point of pre-print (i.e. pre-refereeing) and post-print (i.e. final draft post-refereeing). Please note that IJNE is an open access journal, but there is an embargo of nine months on self-archiving pre-print manuscripts and an embargo of six months on self-archiving post-print manuscripts. If you have any questions, please email us at info@nurtureuk.org.
